

The elves all live with him too. There are one, two, three and four elves. No wait! There are more, a lot more. Everyone knows how busy elves are, because they don't just make toys, they help him wrap the gifts.

The reindeer also live with him. Reindeer are strong and smart and they pull the sleigh. They also know all the roads in the world because they have been pulling the sleigh for a long time.

But, are they the only ones who live in Santa Claus's house?

When he has everything ready and wrapped up, the Christmas Mouse puts all the presents in his bag, sits on top of it and pricks up his ears. He waits and watches the mouse calendar.

"Come on, Santa Claus," he whispers.
"December 24th. It's Christmas Eve.
We need to get going!"

"Ho, ho, ho!" yells Santa Claus as the sleigh takes off into the air. If he looks down, he sees the lights of all the towns and cities. And when he looks up, he sees millions of stars.

Now the sleigh is starting down towards the Earth, where the human children are waiting for Santa Claus and the mouse children are waiting for the Christmas Mouse.
