

In the deepest part of the Big Blue Sea lives Oscar, the Big Blow Fish. Despite being the biggest creature in the waters, Oscar is very shy. Oscar stays in his cave all day long and only comes out at night when everyone else is fast asleep.

The next morning, the waters were awakened by a very angry octopus! Nobody had ever seen Stanley so mad. In fact, he was so mad, he said he wouldn't stop filling the waters with black ink until he found out who had taken his book. The whole sea was in complete darkness.

For several nights, Joy met with Oscar to help him build the courage to talk to Stanley. Meanwhile, there were search parties out in the sea looking for the book, but it was getting harder and harder to see anything through the thick black ink that flooded the waters.