

Hooray, vacation!

It's summer time, and Arnie and Sara are going camping with their parents. The sun is shining and it's a beautiful day. When Arnie looks for the things that he wants to take with him, he gets so excited that he bumps into doors and furniture. His sister laughs as she watches him. Arnie finally sees that he'd better calm down before he breaks something or hurts himself!

Fasten your seat belt

As soon as he gets into the car, Arnie fastens his seat belt. He notices something sticky in his hand. It's a gooey piece of candy. When Sara sees it, she remembers that it's the piece of candy that had dropped out of her mouth the other day! Now they understand why their parents limit what they can eat in the car.

Lunchtime

Mom and Dad have decided to stop for lunch. Sara and Arnie are tired of being in the car, even though they have been playing and singing. When she sits down to eat, Sara is so hungry that she does not remember to close her mouth to chew. She also doesn't sit down nicely or use a napkin to wipe her mouth. It's a good thing that Arnie reminds her about good table manners!
