

We want a frog!

Andrea and Albert are twins and they've decided to ask for a joint present for their birthday. They want a very special pet. It's green and shiny, has very soft damp skin and jumps. Do you know what it is? A frog! The children have seen frogs during the summer in the pond near their house. But especially, they have heard them! "Croak-croak-croak."

Let's choose one

Andrea and Albert's parents have consulted a good pet shop on the Internet to find out which frog is the best for beginners. The best one is the White's tree frog (or "dumpy tree frog"). Today, the four of them went to the shop to choose their pet. The big surprise came when the children found out that they would be able to choose two frogs! When choosing the one they like the best, they simply need to consider that it should look healthy.

Choosing pretty names

The frog that Andrea chose was a very bright green color.

"The best name for a frog of this color is 'Esmeralda,' isn't it Mommy?" said the girl.

The name Albert gave his frog was "Prince." He remembered the story in which the enchanted frog was transformed into a prince when the princess kissed him.
