

My name is Emma and I am in second grade. Yesterday at school our teacher talked to us about Moms who work outside the home. My teacher said that even though most Dads went to work everyday, so did a lot of Moms.

I guess my teacher was right because when she asked the class to put their hands up if their Mom left the house every morning to go to work, almost everybody raised their hand. And since my Mom and Dad both work, I got to put my hand up too!

Did you know that my teachers is not just a teacher but she is a Mom too? She said that she was a teacher for a long time before she became a Mom and since she loved being both a teacher and a Mom, she does both. My Mom told me the same thing. She said that before I was born, she really loved her job as a secretary in an office. And even though being a Mom is her favorite job in the whole world, she loves to do both jobs.
