

The girl thought that Cotton Candy would be the best accessory for her chiffon dresses, pearls and sparkles. She had no idea about pets and if somebody told her that dogs do poops covered in wrapping paper, she would have believed it.

“Ouch!”

Oh! When the dog discovers the shoes! It bites them and smothers them with slobber as if they were sweets. Then the princess walks going “slip-slop”, leaving a trail behind her and slipping every now and then.

Disguised so that nobody can recognize her, the princess runs through the streets of the city until she leaves the sound of the people and cars behind her.
"I don't imagine you'll be able to return to the castle from there.

Poor thing!" She says to the dog.

